

ARTS EDUCATIONAL SCHOOL LONDON ANNOUNCE NEW TEAM TO MOVE BOTH COLLEGE AND SCHOOL FORWARD

Press information for immediate release: Monday 21 November 2010.

2010 is proving an exciting time in the growth and development of the Arts Educational School London. Following the appointment in January of Jane Harrison as the Principal, today, their Director of Musical Theatre, Chris Hocking, has been appointed as the Deputy Principal.

Jane and Chris are delighted that their very successful working relationship will continue in their new roles, having worked together at ArtsEd for ten years (and prior to this for three years together at Mountview). With a wealth of experience within the industry this dynamic duo will be leading the way forward for both the College and the School, which are both housed on the same campus in Chiswick, West London.

Jane says "Chris is an absolutely inspirational teacher and I am delighted that he has agreed to take on the role as deputy at this very exciting time for ArtsEd. ArtsEd is a unique environment to nurture talent. From the school which is fantastically strong academically, working with pupils who are keen on the performing arts; to our newly developed course for the modern actor – our BA Hons Acting For Film And Television, specialising in film and television; and our outstanding BA Hons Musical Theatre Course and the One Year Master of Arts Degree in Musical Theatre Creative Practice. Together we have no doubt that ArtsEd will go from strength to strength".

Chris says: "I am thrilled to be offered such a prestigious position within ArtsEd. I started in the back row of the chorus in the West End, envious of all those that had trained at ArtsEd, and now to be Director of the UK's most successful Musical Theatre Course and Deputy Principal of the entire school makes me feel so very proud. Both Jane and I are working at the school that we always wanted to be at, with so much history and success. We see our students growing and developing in confidence in a passionate, warm and exciting environment that hones their talents to excellence - to become the new history and success stories of tomorrow in the Arts".

ArtsEd were also delighted when Adam Youssefbeygi a third year Acting student, was selected by the Royal Shakespeare Company as one of twelve drama students from all CDS drama school's in the country, to be one of the first actors to appear and speak on the RSC's new main stage at Stratford upon Avon. The honour of delivering the words "O for a muse of fire" was awarded to Adam after the RSC's Greg Doran auditioned the students and worked with them on the prologue from Henry V. A great privilege for both ArtsEd and their student.

Arts Educational Schools London - leading the way to produce the most versatile actors and performers for the twenty-first century.
